

One on One Control Tactics: "Training to Save Lives"

One On One Control Tactics (O3CT) is an Instructor Level Course that is designed for the realities of law enforcement officers, the conditions they work in, and the restrictions placed on them by the public, department policies, as well as state and federal statutes. It is one of the few systems to integrate handcuffing into its overall methods - teaching officers to establish and maintain control prior to the actual application of handcuffs. The system is medically reviewed and supported as safe for officers and suspects. It is a court defensible system with documented support in its effectiveness and low instance of complaints or injuries. Expert testimony and medical review of techniques are available.

This course is designed to teach law enforcement officers techniques to use in everyday duties such as:

- Escort holds
- Grip/clothing breaks
- Handcuffing
- Takedowns
- Weapon retention
- Self defense
- Ground skills
- Edged weapon defense
- And reduce liability for your department using tested and effective compliance methods!

"The One on One Control Tactics ("O3CT") system has been extensively reviewed by the Department considering factors such as 4th Amendment compliance and applicable legal precedent, tactical soundness as well as medical validation of the different techniques utilized by the system. During the time the Department has used O3CT, the City has not had a sustained complaint or been involved in any litigation involving the techniques taught by the system." – Luther L. Ganieany, Jr. / Police Legal Advisor
